Your provided screenshot doesn't match your active website. I would suggest removing "What I do" as an overall title, and creating 2 new subheadings as you have with "Responsive & Fast" in the other 2 boxes:

What I Do I build fast, interactive websites and can integrate a CMS if required. I am knowledgeable with both the server and client side of a user's experience.	Key Roles Meet with key stakeholders to identify the critical needs and design requirements. Write, create & test website code. Collaborate with other team members to deliver successful websites.	Design Approach I believe every website should be built with two primary goals. Firstly, it needs to work across all devices. Secondly, it needs to be as fast as possible.

- 10. Immersive Full Stack Web Development Bootcamp– Spelling & capitalization
- 11. @Evangadi Academy - Unless the @ symbol is part of the actual institution, suggest removal
- 12. Nursing(BSc) – Capitalization & add space
- 13. Co-Founder & Full Stack Web Developer of – Changed order and removal of “of”

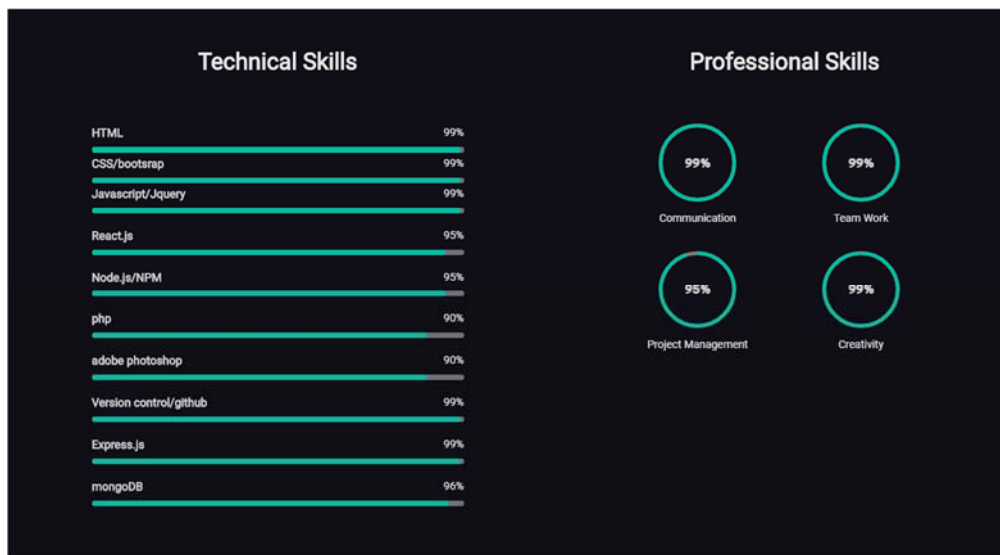

- 14. Retain same colours and formatting as other boxes:

Lecturer
Debrebrhan Health Science College
2007-2008

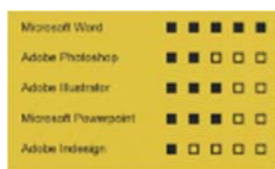

Active on Website:

- 15. I would suggest adding a small description for all boxes, or not adding a description at all, just to keep things consistent

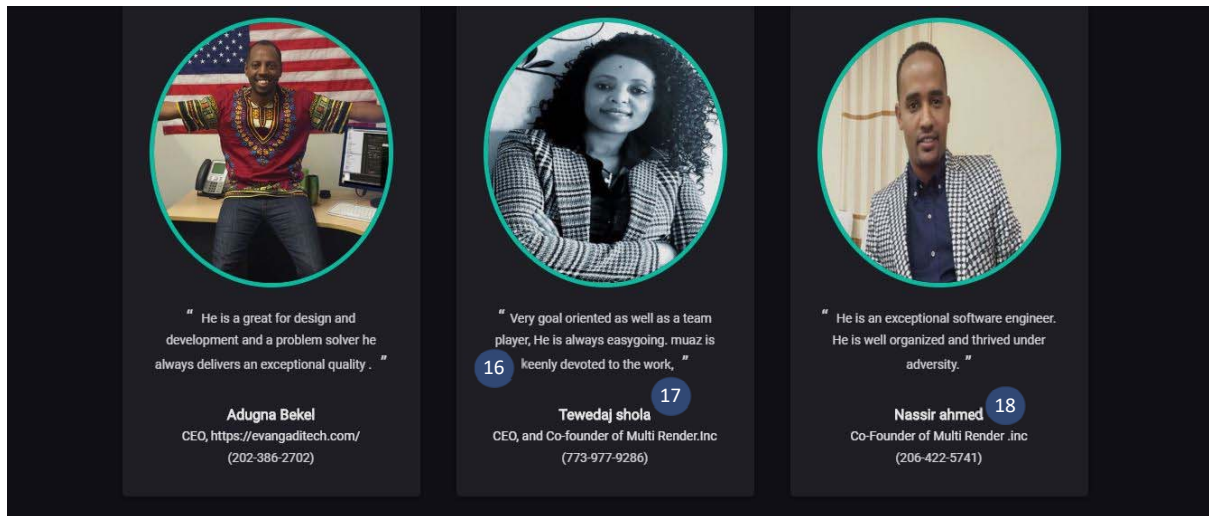

Personally, I find the percentages a little distracting. I have seen something similar done before but using a scale of poor – excellent. I just find myself questioning exact values more than a simple bar / dot arrangement:

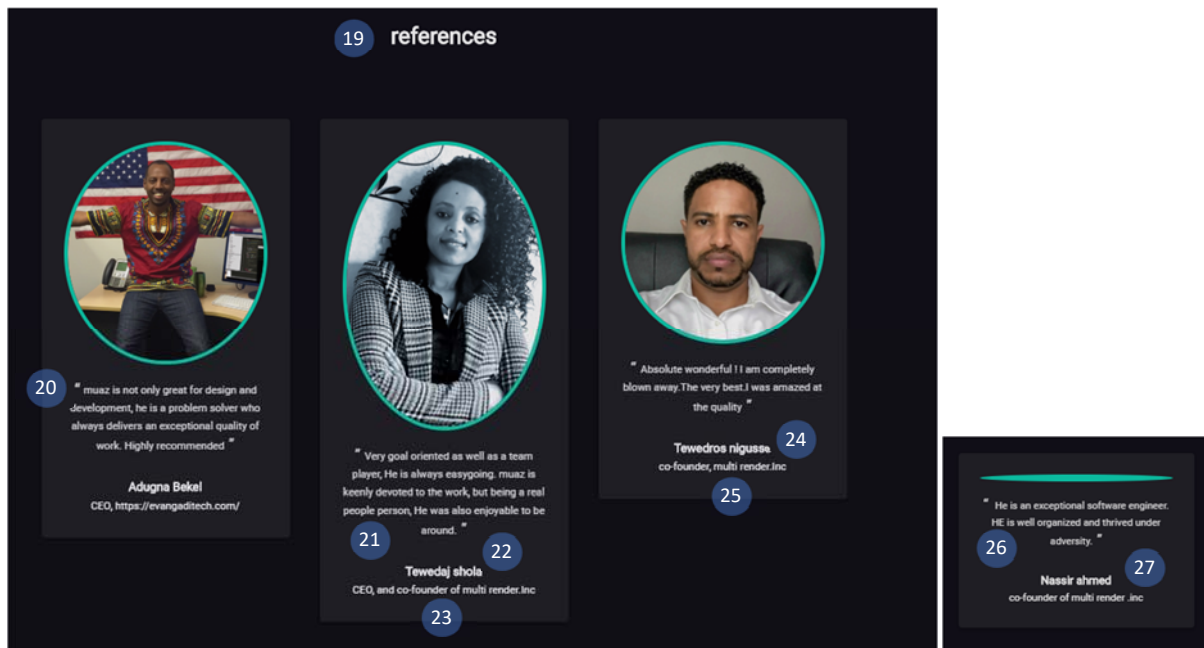

Completely personal preference though!
